The Suffolk County Historical Society located in Riverhead is often a researcher's go-to place when investigating local history. Besides histories, the library contains genealogies, biographies, town records, ledgers, diaries, photographs, postcards, maps and atlases, ancestor charts, and much more! Librarian Edana Cichanowicz will guide you through all of the resources the Historical Society has to offer and tackle some of the most common questions she receives, such as how to research the history of your house.
